A Bibliography of Articles Relating to Holidays.

By Robert Morrill McCurdy.
(B. L. S., N. Y. State Library School, 1903.)

Revised and brought to date by Edith Margaret Coulter,
N. Y. State Library School, 1907.

This selected list of authorities aims to include the most valuable material on legal holidays and festival days of the year; a few other days about which questions are frequently asked have been introduced for the sake of completeness. General arrangement is by the calendar, and not alphabetically. The lists have been made up from the existing collection in the New York state library, but books not in the library, if seemingly valuable, have been occasionally inserted. The original list was compiled with the needs of the reference department of the State library particularly in mind. In the revision the needs of the public library have been considered. In addition to books and analytics, periodical references have been utilized in some divisions and omitted in others, the decision depending on the value of the article and the quantity of other material. The references have been selected in the main from study and comparison of the lists in library bulletins quoted at the beginning of each section, supplemented, when it seemed desirable, by original search.

Biography.

For this list only the most important lives of Washington have been selected. Annotations are from Larned's Literature of American history. Providence library bulletin (4: 5-9) has a valuable list of biography of Washington which may be consulted with great profit.

Baker, W: S. Bibliotheca Washingtoniana. Phil., 1889.

Begins with an eight page sketch written in 1777 and closes with Lodge's life (American statesmen, 1889). This catalogue of 502 titles is the most exhaustive yet made on the subject.

—— The engraved portraits of Washington; with notices of the originals and brief biographical sketches of the painters. 212 p. Sq. Q. Phil., 1880.

—— Itinerary of Gen. Washington from June 15, 1775, to Dec. 23, 1783. 337 p. O. Phil., 1892.

Extracts from the diary or correspondence of Washington from the public records or from newspapers or books of the time in which Washington is mentioned, are set down for each day of the year. The work is invaluable for students as a ready reference.

Carrington, H: B. Washington the soldier. Ed. 2. 451 p. O. Bost., 1899.

In the main an abridgment of the author's Battles of the Revolution. (N. Y., 1876.) The maps of the battlefields are the same and for authenticity and completeness are among the very best that are accessible.

Custis, G: W. P. Recollections and private memoirs of Washington . . . with a memoir by his daughter—notes by B. J. Lossing. 644 p. O. N. Y., 1860.

These reminiscences of Washington were written by Mrs. Washington's grandson, who was adopted by George Washington at six months of age. They form the storehouse for the usual traditions about Washington, accepted but largely unproven.

Everett, Edward. Life of . . . Washington. 348 p. D. N. Y., 1860.

Avowedly follows Sparks's life, is well proportioned, but has no special merit.

Ford, P. L. The true . . . Washington. 319 p. O. Phil., 1896.

The writer's aim, very successfully attained, is to make Washington "a man rather than a historical figure." Few writers have used more abundant historical resources, or made better use of them.

Hale, E. E. Life of . . . Washington studied anew. 411 p. D. N. Y., 1889. (Boys' and girls' library of American biog. v. 2.)

Characterized by the author as a study of "The Human Washington," emphasizing the domestic rather than the public side of his life.

Hapgood, Norman. George Washington. 430 p. O. N. Y., 1901.

Hough, F. B: Washingtoniana; or, Memorials of the death of . . . Washington . . . a list of tracts printed upon the occasion and a catalogue of medals commemorating the event. 2 v. Q. Roxbury, Mass., 1865.

A collection of the descriptions of Washington's death and funeral, the proceedings of the various public bodies, and the eulogies and poems brought out by this event. An incomplete bibliography of books and pamphlets on Washington is added.

Irving, Washington. Life of . . . Washington. 5 v. O. N. Y., 1855-59.

Numerous editions of this work.

Coming twenty years later than Sparks's life and fifty years after Marshall's, this admirable biography, by one of the most eminent of American authors, at once took its place among the three standard biographies of Washington.

Johnson, B. T. General Washington. (Great commanders.) 401 p. D. N. Y., 1895.

Few of the lives of Washington exceed this in serviceableness to the military student, written as it is by one of the most eminent of the Confederate generals in the civil war; and yet it is to be regretted that the few and inadequate maps in the book had not been replaced by a more liberal equipment.

Lodge, H: C. George Washington. 2 v. D. Bost., 1889. (American statesmen.)

—— —— (See Morse, J: T., ed. American statesmen. 1899. v. 4-5.)

Were it not in two volumes instead of one, this might be designated the ideal life of Washington. Even as it is, it is written on the basis of abundant knowledge, and embodies excellent judgment and temper, a strong desire to be accurate in its statements and a good English style. It has an index but no illustrations; and yet few works have held so well the interest of the general reader.

Lossing, B. J: Home of Washington, and its associations, historical, biographical, and pictorical. New ed. 376 p. O. N. Y., 1866.

Pub. also with the title, Mount Vernon and its associations, historical, biographical and pictorial.

Marshall, John. Life of Washington. Ed. 2. 2 v. and atlas of maps. O. Phil., 1832.

Written by an eminent Virginian contemporary of Washington and based on the Bushrod Washington mss. The first three volumes appeared within five years after Washington's death; and though the haste with which it was prepared is deprecated in the author's preface, its nearness to the events, together with other notable qualities, makes it one of the three most famous lives of Washington.

Mitchell, S. W. The youth of Washington told in the form of an autobiography. 290 p. O. N. Y., 1904.

"A triumph of pseudo-autobiography based on long and careful study of its subject and interweaving so skillfully Washington's own words that absolute fact and scarcely less truthful fiction are inseparable." Best Books 1904.

Paulding, J: K. Life of Washington. 2 v. S. N. Y., 1840. (Family library, no. 75 and 76.)

The value of the book for historical purposes is somewhat impaired by later investigations and by the total lack of references, but it has a lasting charm as a literary essay.

Pyle, Howard. Catalogue of drawings illustrating the life of Gen. Washington. (See his Catalogue of drawings illustrating the life of Washington and of colonial life. 1897. p. 5-17.)

Washington, George. Daily journal in 1751-52, kept while on a tour from Virginia to the Island of Barbadoes . . . 88 p. O. Alb., 1892.

—— Diary from the 1st day of Oct., 1789, to the 10th day of Mar., 1790. 89 p. Q. N. Y., 1858.

—— Diary from 1789 to 1791, embracing the opening of the 1st congress and his tours through New England, Long Island and the Southern states; together with his journal of a tour to the Ohio in 1753. . . . 248 p. D. N. Y., 1860.

—— Journal of my journey over the mountains, while surveying for Lord Thomas Fairfax in Virginia, 1747-48. 144 p. O. Alb., 1892.

Washington, George. Journal of . . . Washington . . . it comprises the history of marches, campings and events . . . 273 p. O. Alb., 1893.

—— Journal sent by Robert Dinwiddie to the commandant of the French forces in Ohio. 46 p. O. N. Y., 1865. (Sabin's reprints, no. 1.)

Wilson, Woodrow. George Washington. Il. by Howard Pyle, Harry Fenn and others. 333 p. O. 1897.

Mr. Wilson, while not ignoring the "everyday" character of Washington's services, yet lays no such emphasis on the subject as Ford does. The author's knowledge is wide, his judgment and temper excellent, his desire for accuracy great, and his style eminently readable. Few books will appeal more strongly to the general reader.

Biography, Juvenile.

Bolton, S. K. George Washington. (See her Famous American statesmen. 1888. p. 1-37.)

Brooks, E. S. True story of . . . Washington . . . 204 p. O. Bost., 1895.

Printed in large type for young readers, with more than 100 illustrations, some of which are wholly fanciful. The book is not pre-eminent for accuracy, judicial temper nor critical discrimination.

Scudder, H. E. George Washington. 253 p. S. Bost., 1898. (Riverside library for young people, v. 2.)

This book has been recognized for more than ten years past as one of the best lives of Washington for young readers and among the best of the one volume lives of Washington for readers of any age. It embodies no original work, but is judicious, fair, cautious, and of admirable literary worth.

Works.

Washington, George. Writings published from the original manuscript with a life of Washington and notes by Jared Sparks. 12 v. O. Bost., 1833-39.

This was for years the standard set of Washington's works, but it has to a certain extent been superseded by Ford's Writings of Washington.

—— Writings of Washington. Coll. and ed. by W. C. Ford. 14 v. O. N. Y., 1889-93.

Ed. limited to 750 copies.

—— Inaugural address as President of the U. S. N. Y. City, April 30, 1789. (See Johnston, Alexander. Representative American orations. 1888. v. 1, p. 44-51.)

Washington, Mrs. Martha (Dandridge) Custis.

Lossing, B. J: Mary and Martha, the mother and wife of George Washington. 368 p. D. N. Y., 1886.

Belongs to the better class of popular writings, yet unimportant to the student of history. Preserves the current traditions of the two women. Entertaining to the general reader.

Wharton, A. H. Martha Washington. 320 p. D. N. Y., 1897. (Women of colonial and revolutionary times.)

To some extent biographical, but based as much on tradition as on established fact.
